Has Been a Reed Womey Party From Our free-silventes constantly refer to efferson and his associate founders of he Democratic party as if they had held the flat view of money and had declared that all coins derived their value from the acts of Congress that authorize their omage and make them legal tender in tead of from then actual intrinsic value as metal of a certain weight On the ontrary, says the Bultimore Sun, we find Mr. Jefferson saying this "Tast princides will lead us to disregard the legal roportion altogether to inquire into the market price of gold in the several countries with which we shall principally be connected in commerce and to take an average from them. Perhaps we might with safety lean to a proportion somewhat above par for gold, consider ing our neighborhood and commerce with the sources of the come and the tendency which the high price of gold in spain has to draw thither all of their nmes, leaving silver principally for our and other markets. It is not impossible that 15 for 1 may be even an eligible proportion I state it, however, as a con

After a great deal of nice calculation the object of which was to so fix the ra to of comage that it would accord, at any rate, closely approximate, to the actual market value of the two metals in the currencies of the rest of the world the first ratio actually adopted under our constitution was 15 to 1 If there is therefore, any 'comage of the constitution" it certainly is not the 16 to 1 for which the mining-camp statesmen are so clamorous Experience however, proved that 15 to 1 was undervaluation of gold, and at once the Democratic fithers Benton leading the way, demanded that it should be charged so as to bring back is to this country its due proportion of the normal world's stock of gold. It was for that world's stock of gold. It was for that purpose that a bill changing the ratio to 16 to 1 was passed by Congress and sign ed by President Lackson The Demo cratic leaders of that day were all hardmoney men and they all believed with Jefferson that it was the commercial and not the legal ratio upon which gold and s lver must be comed and kept current President Cleveland 15, therefore on the solid ground of indisputable history when he speaks or the Democratic purty as having been from its found ition on ward to the present time the distinctive ly hard money and honest-money party of this country. Whoever may desert that "trad tional doctrine and follow after the false prophets of populism and the sophistries of flat money, founded as they are, upon the dangerous legaltender doctrine of green back Republi-canism, which was born in the exigen cies of civil war and confirmed by the doubtful decision of a Supreme Court constituted for the purpose, President Clevel and stands firmly on the same monetary ground on which Jefferson Madison, Bentou and Jackson stood It is the duty and it will be the pleasure of every true Democrat who knows the history and loves the principles of his party to stand with him now and to the On that ground alone is victory in ground were possible it would not be a An era of unbounded prosperity coincid would not be worth the while cracy to win Cuppling the Schools.

There is danger that the Legislature may reduce the appropriation for public schools by the amount of $1,000,000 for the ensuing two years. Under existing conditions this might be excusable in view of the depleted condition of the Treasury, but it should be remembered that the same Legislature that is likely to cut off the school appropriation to the entent of a million, has passed a law that must necessarily involve largely increased expenditure for school facilities if it is to be executed.

The compulsory education bill has passed both branches of the Legislature and is now in the hands of the Governor There is little doubt that he will approve it, and it may be accepted as the law of the State This act requires that all children of a certain age shall be sent to a public school for a specific period of each year, and a penalty is imposed upon parents for failure to comply with the law. But as we have not now sufficent school-houses for the number of law to be executed without the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars

It would require the expenditure of a compulsory law, and how does the Leg slature expect the compulsory law to be 1994 enforced when in a majority of the counties of the State there are not sufficient school facilities to accommodate those pass such a bill that must increase the scholars in our public schools by tens of thousands, and at the same time reduce the school appropriation, must mean that the compulsory bill is to remain a dead letter on the statute 11s penal features cannot be enforced unless the school districts shall furnish facilities for receiving the pupils, and the Legislatur should aid the execution of the compu ed, rather than a diminished appropria-tion to the public schools — Plata Times, — Governor Hastings agned the Farr Bill on Thursday.

Gettysburg, Tuesday, May 21, 1895 The general revival of industry and ncrease of wages in all parts of the country are indisputable facts which brighten the future for millions of our people. Employers and employes are in better heart at the prospect of increased business, more work, improved profits and better returns to labor. The first step was the employment of large numbers of workmen in the various industries at the reduced wages that followed the panic and stagnation of the first six months after the close of the Harrison idministration. The second step-and this has been taken to the extent of to be hardly intelligible from 10 to 20 per cent in a multitude of industries-was an advance of wages It is the good fortune of Mr Cleveland of a district school, and the site of a and the Democratic party to have this small saw-mill, the latter the property return of prosperity to occur under their auspices, as it was their misfortune to be in office when the seed sown during Republican rule produced its worst fruits The panic and stagnation through which we have had to pass were unquestionably due to causes that originated during President Harrison's term in this and other countries. The McKin les act aimed to lessen imports, but in doing so it cut off needed revenue and discouraged the exportation of agricultural products. Its higher prices-protected from foreign competition-fostered trusts, diminished the ability of the people to buy and demoralized bus - when I heard them talking-Old Sam ness generally Other legislation of the Harrison administration portended financial embarrassment. The dependents' pension act and other extravagances of the billion dollar Congress increased vastly the current outgo from the treas urv At the same time the Sherman silver act sapped confidence at home and aboard in the ability of our government to maintain gold payments. The result might have been anticipated. Diminished income with increased expenditure and prospects of a debased currency brought panic and disaster Signs of if father made a fuss " the last months of the Harrison administration but it arrived in its full fury only after Mr (leveland had taken the helm of state It devolved upon the -gone into Lake Michigan, of what use Democratic President to cure, as fur as practicable the evils due to Republican policy and restore the country to the prosperity which is now beginning to smile upon the land It is now pretty generally conceded by persons most competant to form an opinion that the leading acts of the present administration have tended directly to the restoration of copfidence. The repeal of the Sherm in act unquestionably did so. staving off the threatened approach of in area of depreciated silver currency The repeal of the McKinley tariff, though long delayed by the perversity of certain benutors, was a necessary prehiminary to the return of stable economic conditions Factionists in Congress prevented the desired legislation for a reform of our currency and banking sys tems, but the arrangement made by Secretary Carasle with the bond syndicate ias arrested the exportation of gold, restored the gold reserve and created the confidence to which the present revival of business is due. The flames, however, failed to consume the mass and a stream was dammed and diverted from its course in order to wash away the half-burned bodies. But even this failed to obliterate the terrible evidence against the Turks, and the local authorities were compelled to remove the remains piecemeal. The villagers had removed the bulk of the bodies and

The delegates of the powers left Joosh on April 5 The Turkish delegates at first declined to accompany them and then changed their minds They proceeded to the ruined villages and traversed Shenikand Gernal, which were found in ruins, standing in the midst of devastated fields They passed other villages where many houses were burned. At Jellygozan the commission caused two pits to be opened, and found in them the remains of skulls and bones, with the bair and clothing still adhering to them Still another pit was searched It was situated in a ravine near Jellygoozan, and inside it were found a lecapitated trunk and other human re mains But few bodies however, were found. The villagers told the delegates that they had removed the bodies from this pit, and it was evident beyond a doubt that all three pits had contained bodies. The exhalations from the pils were so frighful that the delegates expersenced great trouble in prevailing upon laborers to amish their horrible

In signing the Compulsory Education bill (for Hastings falls mro the Republican swin and goes along with the rest. He appears to have given up his rights as part of the law making power of this state and signs the bill, not because of his own judgment but because it was the desire of the Legis lature and some people. It is the Governor's duty to take a middle position as a power, between the people and the Legislature. He appears now, however, to be a part of the I egislature, a creature subject to the dictates of his narti-leaders.

there will appear upon our statute books for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth a Compulsory Educational law. The General Assembly in the sessions of 1991 and 1890, passed a Compulsory Educational activities and the sessions of the session on this subject iaw. The General Assembly in the sessions of 1591 and 1805 passed a Compulsory Educational ner somewhat similar to the present neasure each of which met with Frecutive approval. There appears to be throughout the Commonwealth a general desire for such a law. I have not received a single protest from my citizen against this bill so far as I can recall. The unminimity with which it was passed by the Legislature, as well as the large number of requests made upon me to sign it clearly indicate the general desire on the part of the people for a Compulsory Education law. Under the conditions I meconsinced that I should not obtrade any individual judgment which I may have on this question of public policy. This measure provides for compulsory education in perhaps the lest objectionable form to those who oppose it on principle, and of rends as little against the personal rights of the critizen as possible. I therefore approve the bill but if by experience the expectations of the people are not realized future legislation doubtless will meet their demands."

Red and Crimson Clover.

Good as a Manurial Crops-New Jersey and Delaware Farmers Who Cannot Grow the Old Red Clover 1 ind a Friend in the New Substitute

Too much value cannot be placed upon the new clover, which is destined to revolutionize farming in certain sections, Scarlet (or erimson) clover has been tested and found equal to all that has been claimed for it. It was introduced into this country about 20 years ago. and for a while was only known in Virginia and North Curolina, but its fame began to spread until now it is well known in all sections. It can be easily recognized from the red vinety, its long, pointed seed heads being ! strong contrast with f e round heads of red clover. It seems to thrive well in Delaware and New Jersey, especially or land that cannot grew the red, and the farmers of Delaware are now engage in growing it to a large extens, principally for seed, but wherever it has been mowed for hay it has given excellent satisfaction. It grows very rapidly, seeds out much earlier than red clover, and stands the severest winters remark ably well

Those who have grown red clover are aware of the fact that it is a bi-ennial That is the seed is sown in the spring of one year and the crop is mowed the second year, thus occapying the land two years Scarlet clover is seeded down in the fail, occupies the land dur ing the winter, and starts off early in the spring, the same as rye, and mature its seeds in May or June according to location. It thus occupies the soil at a period of the year when the land is not required for other crops, and being seeded down in the fail it can be used on land that has but recently produced crop In many instances, it has given good crops by simply sewing the seed on top of the ground without any prep arat on of the sol at all, especially 1 August, among the stalks of standing corn, as it soon germinates and begins to make growth, completely covering the soil and giving it a green appearance

Scarlet clover will never be able to displace the old and well tried red vari ety wherever the latter can be grown to perfection, but it proves a gold mine to far ners whose farms are not adapted to the red It can be plowed under in May, in time for planted corn, and its stalks, leaves and roots add both humus and nitrogen to the soil. It may be added here, for the benefit or those who may give scarlet clover a test, that it will be an advantage to use lime on the soil Wood ashes are allo excellent, but lime is cheep and can be easily obtained The seed is for sale by all reliable seedsmen, and it is, as a rule, pure and free from the seeds of weeds. Grow it as a manufual crop, and use plenty of seed, so as to have the land completely covered with plants. It is also an excellent hay crop, and if cut before it heads out will afford several cuttings during the season, being an excellent early soiling crop for cows, as well is being much superior to rie. Becf Cattle.

The Busin scof Lusing and Leeding Cat the for Birth

The recent 'fluctuations in beet show that the farmer performs a very important part in inflaencing the supply, and that he has the power to reduce r increase prices more than has hereto fore been supposed. I ooking over the field the fact appears also that the prices of beef and the control of the present supply are regulated at Kansas City, over 1,700 miles from the seaboard The Lastern farmer is compelled to abandon the cattle business because Le cannot compete with his Western competitors, and our butchers are forced to buy from those who seem to have power to limit the supply Now, the real party who can regulate the prices is the Careful Buyers always Post themselves Before Purchasing. farmer There is no necessity whatever for the Fast buying her beef so far from home. It is the farmers in this section who have refused to turn their attention to cattle raising, and wlo are tention to cattle raising, and who are permitting the Western farmers to have control of the lading markets. The very fact that beef is high as proof. that the farmers are depriving themserves of the opportunity of receiving better prices for the 1 products than they have been securing PART AND LEFT STOCK The dairy interests of the East keep the production of beef cuttle in the rear Yet, with the complaint that prices for grain prevent farmers from Velvet, Body Brussels, Tapestries, making a profit, no attention has been given to the fattening of steers. Or e of the drawbacks has been that the steers are very aferior, due to the fathat the best milch cous are 1 of pro ducers of the choicest neef animals This condition will remain, however unless farmers are willing to rare then calves instead of selling them off at an early age A pure bred bull of the beef-producing breeds, such as the Here fords, Shorthorns, or Polied Angus, bred to the ordinary dairy cows, wil make a wonderful improvement in the stock, though it is admitted that nothing will be gained by keeping the heifer calves of such umon, unless it is to send them to market, as the beef producing breeds are not as utable for milk and butter as the breeds adapted for those CHEAP FOODS AND BEFL With wheat as low as 50 cents, the prices of corn and oats will be influenced correspondingly, and the best way to sell cheap grain is in the form of meat There is nothing to prevent those who are nearest to the markets from controlling prices, but in order to do so the beef must be fully up in quality to that which comes from the West It is admitted that the best teef is shipped from west of the Mississippi, for the reason that our Lastern farmers are more interested in milk and butter than in beef hence the greater unitorunty of the Western meat, but present prices demonstrate that our Lustern farmers can afford to use their cheap grain for producing beef To be successful, however, the cattle must be of the breed that will give the greatest gain in the shortest time, and the beef must be of a quality to compete with that which comes from eisewhere With transportation in our favor, all now depends upon the breeds, and with their use the East need not fear Western competition.-

If stable manure is to be composted, covering of toil over the heap will save it from loss of ammonia. A very thin covering is only required Clay or mould is best. Either has a large capacity for absorbing ammonia Most farmers cover the heaps too thickly. As this earth in turning the heaps will be mixed up with the manure, it makes the manure bulky in proportion to its plant food. There is no object in carrying a large amount of earth to the fields, as it will cost more than the more against the to handle it than it will be worth as a fertilizer.
